

CNN: "Best of Breed: Industry Innovators Series."

Jack Redding, LifePoint
President

Jack Redding, LifePoint Informatics President, will be interviewed by CNN for the "Best of Breed: Industry Innovators Series." Sky Radio and Video Network, the largest producer of in-flight entertainment in the country, announced an exciting new partnership with CNN Airport Network.

For the month of June 2009 they will be producing Best of Breed: Industry Innovators, which will be broadcast exclusively throughout the CNN Airport Network and on the American Airlines "Business and Technology Report." This program will focus on professional associations, societies and foundations that provide untold benefits to their members and the economy at large.

CNN's Airport network has a total audience of nearly 16 million viewers per month with an average household income of $104,157. The video programs play at 44 of the busiest airports and over 2,000 of the busiest gates in the United States during the CNN broadcast.
